It is the opening day of Detective Sergeant Scarlett Macey's biggest case of her life - 'The Lycra Rapist' is standing trial for a series of brutal rapes. But things don't go according to plan - the trial collapses - and James Green is freed. Scarlett is determined his freedom will not last long and immediately begins planning his downfall. Meanwhile, James Green has his own plans for revenge, and driven by feelings of hatred begins to pick out those who brought about his downfall - priming them for the kill. Scarlett has faced many villains in the past, but never one quite as terrifying as James Green...
