The best friends are back, and although they've weathered several storms together, Coffee and Marquan had come to the realization that their drama will never die. From Coco's accident to threats on his mother, Quan didn't know which way to turn. But the one thing Coco and Quan could always count on is family. With tragic events happening one after another, the family bonds together like never before. Only this time, the ladies aren't taking the back seat. They decide to take matters in their own hands to found Bianca. When Tam, Moe and Fallon found themselves on what they called a lady's trip, they weren't prepared for the ride. Quan and Mama Lo find out on who is behind the threats, and it hits home for Waco and his crew, causing him to make major decisions on people's lives. Fights, lies, kidnappings and alibis all surround the family. As if dealing with people threatening his mother isn't enough, a devastating loss rocks Quan's world. Take this journey with the family as they continue to fight their way through the storms together...
