“I remember years ago someone told me I should take caution when it comes to love. I did!”-Shontelle
“Impossible” Friendships are threatened. Old loves reunited as new loves are seemingly forced apart. The battle between love and war are at an all-time high.

Once again, A'Khyia Harris stands on the front lines of the battlefield! Tensions mount and hearts will once again be broken, but when the dust settles and the smoke clears, who will stand victoriously by her side? All is definitely fair in love and war, but just how hard is one man really willing to go to win and keep A'Khyia's heart this time around? Ebony and Zyion decided to make their relationship official and go public in the midst of their careers taking off and Ebony's drama with her son's father, Rodney. All may seem fine and dandy, but can Ebony and Zyion handle the pressures of the limelight and maintain a solid relationship, or will they crumble in the game?
