Kai, an Oni demon finds himself on a new path. One that he must fight day and night for. Having to overcome the loss of the Valkyrie he must search for someone to sooth both him and is demon. The path to love for Kai isn't just winding, it's about accepting something that he had no idea he needed. Angelica had her work cut out for her being both bartender and banshee. She'd always fantasized about being in the middle of the demon and were-panther, Kai and Felix, but she never really thought that was a possibility. But, after asking Kai out and him mentioning the idea, she'd have to admit she was intrigued. Felix didn't have time for love, feelings, or anything of the sort. This idea of Kai's couldn't come a worse time. Just when he lets his guard down to feel something, to let two of the closest people in, the whole pack is attacked. Now, all three of them must fight day and night to fix the pack and take the target off the back of the Oni. Will they be able to resolve this or will it all be for naught? The three must come together as one to heal what has been broken, or else everything will fail.
