All Adrift is the exciting sequel to All At Sea and All Afloat, and follows the twists and turns of Ryan and Jenna's growing love story. The third instalment in the series opens just weeks after the shocking events of All At Sea. House hunting and wedding planning are difficult with the shadow of a court case and an inquest about to begin. Jenna's happiness with Ryan is threatened from multiple angles and she soon realises she'll, once again, have to fight to keep what is hers. All the while, Jenna feels like she's losing her mind each time she examines the familiar faces around her. As events rush to their inevitable conclusion, can Ryan and Jenna make it through this time? Will the stress of a new relationship and ongoing complications force them to face their deepest fears? All Adrift is the fifth published fiction novel for author Tracey Pedersen. She promises you a fun read with enough twists to keep you interested. Best of all, you'll never suffer through a cliffhanger ending in one of her stories!
