"Tell me I can trust you." She looked slightly confused, confused, and I made a noise. "Trust me how Meghan?" "Trust that you're not trying to harm me. Trust that you have my best interest at heart." Zi laughed and I shivered. She leaned closer, hand on my knee again and I shivered harder. "Meghan, Love.

Sweetheart. You don't have your best interest at heart. You wouldn't be here in this car with me if you did.

You wouldn't be sleeping with two criminal masterminds while eyeing the third." I looked up, confused. Who's the is the third? Brenda?? "Safety is not why you are here. But, I have absolutely no wish to harm you." Azina grinned, squeezing my leg. "Quite the opposite, in fact."
