It's been three months since Jake Walker and his werewolf friend, Max Kahler, defeated the vampire, Ivan, in Winchester, Alaska. Life for Jake has just started getting back to normal as Max and his best friend, Chris White, teach him about Werewolves and the world of the supernatural when Chris is suddenly accused of murder by a rival werewolf pack. Max and Jake find themselves on opposite sides as Jake begins to investigate the murder on his own. Meanwhile, Detective Dominic Palmer investigates a murder and uncovers a far more sinister plan in the works. With time running short and the body count rising, the pack must make an impossible decision: abandon the town to an unspeakable evil or fight to save it at the risk of losing their very souls.
