“The soul inside me wasn’t mine...It didn’t care about anything.” Sara’s no longer in control—not of her life, her mind, or the Fire Soul that’s burning away her desire to live. Now a rival to the Council has surfaced to stop her from becoming the Quintessence. She’s not sure who to believe, or who to side with. Despite the two sides pulling at her, Sara is determined to get Tarren back, even if the hate from the Fire Soul won’t allow her to love him.
